Who Won US Election?

The election of Donald Trump as US President was hailed as a great victory for the American people. A great victory until Trump's "import tariffs" policy crashed Wall Street's stock exchange costing tens of thousands of US jobs.

Trump's foreign policies have benefited just one country ... Israel.

Under Trump's plans, the US will "take over" Gaza and transform it to the "Riviera of the Middle East"

The 2.3 million Palestinian occupants, with some families having been settled there for over 400 years, will be "ethnically cleansed" to neighbouring Egypt and Jordan.

Israel has been tasked with security of the region and Israeli settlers have been invited to take over Palestinian farms. Sooner, rather than later, Gaza will become part of "Greater Israel"!

UN Denounce Genocide in Gaza

The decision by Israel to unilaterally end the ceasefire in Gaza has been condemned by the United Nations as "Genocidal". Israel has already cut off medical supplies, food imports, water and electricity to Gaza. Several babies and young children have already starved to death.

The decision to commence air-strikes against hospitals and refugee camps in the Gaza strip killed over 700 people in just 3 days, 70% of the victims were woman and children.

The International Court of Human Rights has described the attacks as "a War Crime".

Unbelievably, the Trump administration in the US admitted that Israel has consulted with them before breaking the ceasefire and NO OBJECTIONS HAD BEEN RAISED!

Sorry!

Once again we must apologise for the delay in producing this Winter issue. Our two new volunteers have struggled to find the time to be part of the team, and breakdowns to vital printing equipment have added to our problems.

But, hopefully our major problems are over and planning for the Spring issue has begun.

In the meantime we would like to thank you for your patience.

Israel Wins US Election

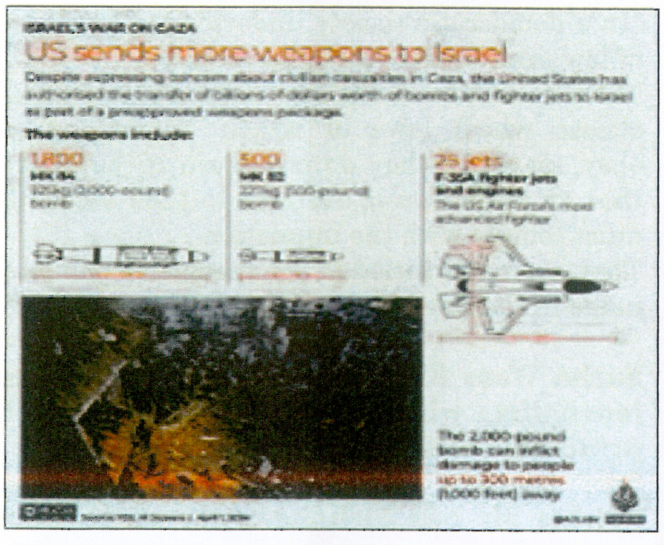
Israel has become the first non-US country to benefit from the election of Donald Trump as US President.

Amongst the first of his "Executive Orders" Trump agreed to the delivery of an unnamed number of 2,000 lb "terror bombs" to the Israeli Defence Force.(IDF)

The former US President Joe Biden had stopped the delivery of the bombs owing to concerns about civilian casualties in Gaza caused by these powerful weapons which can cause death and destruction over a wide area.

Israel remains the largest recipient of US military aid worldwide.

Over 47,000 Palestinians have already been killed by Israeli forces in Gaza, including 17,400 children!



ISRAEL'S WAR ON GAZA
US sends more weapons to Israel
The weapons include:
1,800
500
25 jets
F-35A fighter jets and engines
The 2,000-pound bomb can inflict damage to people up to 300 metres (1,000 feet) away

US to supply "Terror Bombs" to Israel

Trump's new administration has promised "unwavering support" for Israel Almost all senior administrators are ardent Zionists and supporters of Israel's claimed the right to expand into Palestinian lands. Even the new US Ambassador to the United Nations has confirmed that she believes Israel has a "biblical right" to occupy Gaza.

"Ethnic Cleansing" for Gaza

Within days of his victory, Trump proposed that over 1.5 million Palestinians leave their lands in Gaza and move to neighbouring Egypt and Jordan. He also supported plans for armed Israeli settlers to occupy Palestinian farms.

President Donald Trump also signed an executive order to punish US protesters who supported the Palestinians, at the same time endorsing Israel's military onslaught in Gaza.

With Trump's agreement on this draconian measure he has turned the United States from being a champion of democracy to becoming merely a servant of Zionist Israel!

Muslim Man Jailed for Incitement

A Muslim man has been jailed after publishing on-line material to stir up racial hatred during last month's unrest. Ehsan Hussain, aged 25 of Coventry Road, Yardley, admitted to using a fake name belonging to an innocent member of the public to post numerous and vile messages on Telegram in a chat group containing over 12,000 members during the violent disorder across the UK in August.

Hussain posed on-line as "Chris Nolan," a " far - Right" hooligan proposing race hate attacks against Asians in Saltley Gate, Birmingham.
He had hoped to provoke the English Defence League into responding, but wisely they kept away while largely Asian gangs of "counter-protestors" attacked white owned cars and a local pub.
He was jailed for two years and four months at Birmingham Crown Court.

Tommy Robinson Jailed

Patriotic activist Tommy Robinson, has been jailed for 18 months after admitting contempt of court.
Robinson admitted 10 breaches of a High Court order made in 2021, during a hearing at Woolwich Crown Court.
Aidan Eardley KC, for Solicitor-General Sarah Sackman accused the 41-year-old of "undermining" the rule of law.
Passing sentence, Judge Mr Justice Johnson said the breaches of the injunction, which prevented Robinson from repeating allegations, about Jamal Hijazi, a Syrian in West Yorkshire, were not "accidental, negligent or merely reckless" and the custodial threshold was "amply crossed".
"In a democratic society underpinned by the rule of law, court orders must be obeyed.
"Nobody is above the law. Nobody can pick or choose which laws or which injunctions they obey, or which they do not. Even if they believe that an injunction is contrary to their views they must comply with the injunction.
They are not entitled to set themselves up as the judge in their own court."

Sasha Wass KC, for Tommy, said he was a journalist who had been following his principles and was a passionate believer in free speech. "This defendant has been neither sly nor dishonest nor seeking gain for himself," she said.

British Freedom Changes Party Name

*Officials of the British Freedom Party have confirmed that proposals to change the party's name have been approved by members.

In a recent news update, a party spokesman said ...

"The British Freedom Party has long been a beacon for those who value faith, family, and the future of our great nation. Together, we have championed causes that strengthen our communities and preserve the traditions that make Britain unique.

Today, I am reaching out to you about an important change that could solidify our identity and amplify our mission: renaming the British Freedom Party to The Christian Nationalist Party.

This is not a simple rebranding; it is a reaffirmation of who we are, what we believe, and what we stand for as an Ethno-Nationalist movement rooted in love for our people and faith in God.

Why this change?

Changing our name to The Christian Nationalist Party signals a bold step forward. It declares to the world that we are unapologetically Christian, unapologetically British, and unapologetically committed to preserving our ethnic identity and Christian faith.

Our values - faith in God, the defence of family, and the preservation of Britain's Christian heritage - are at the very heart of everything we stand for. By adopting the name "The Christian Nationalist Party," we make a bold declaration of who we are and what we fight for.

Patriotic Alternative Activist Joins Family for Christmas

In March last year, Patriotic Alternative activist Sam Melia was sentenced to two years in prison for creating stickers to be downloaded via the internet. Despite even the prosecution conceding the content of the stickers was legal Sam was jailed for two years for committing a "hate crime".

Sam's harsh treatment attracted support from nationalists throughout Europe and regular protests were held outside Hull Prison.

Finally, just before Christmas, Sam was released from prison, and despite having to live at a specified hostel he was able to open presents with his children on Christmas Day!

Sam's wife Laura would like to thank everyone who helped during the campaign and all those who contributed financially during the family's time of need.

Thousands of Tommy Robinson Supporters March Through London

February 2025

An estimated 20,000 Tommy Robinson supporters marched through Central London demanding the release of Tommy from prison.

Release Tommy March

Hundreds of police officers were deployed in response to the protest, organised under the name "Stop the Isolation" or "Unite the Kingdom" Some Tommy supporters were wearing "MEGA – Make England Great Again" hats and "I am Tommy" stickers with many attendees live streaming the event on their phones.
A separate counter-demonstration by Stand Up To Racism attracted a few hundred supporters.

Chants of "We want our country back" and "We want Tommy out" were sung as the demonstration set off from outside Waterloo station before marching towards Westminster and assembling at the Parliament Square end of Whitehall. The counter-protesters also marched to Whitehall to stand "together against racism, Islamophobia and anti-Semitism".
The Met Police reported an incident where a flare was set off, another arrest near Waterloo after an officer was spat at and three arrests in Whitehall after "Stop the Isolation" protesters entered the "Stand Up To Racism" rally area in breach of conditions.
Police said a total of six people had been arrested

Grooming Crisis

Labour Goes Soft on Pakistani Rape Gangs

Experts have estimated that over a half a million white girls have been groomed and raped in Britain over the past decade or so. The vast majority of the rapists are from the ethnic Pakistani community.

White girls as young as 12, many living in care homes, have been groomed and sexually abused by organised grooming gangs. But despite local authorities identifying the rape-gangs problem in up to 50 towns and demanding a national investigation, the Labour government are only willing to launch official reviews in just 5 locations! Bizarrely, these local reviews do not have the power to compel witnesses to give evidence under oath!

In a vote in Parliament, MP's voted AGAINST a nationwide enquiry by 364 votes to 111 votes, with Keir Starmer not even bothering to turn up for the vote. Labour MPs were ORDERED to vote down the proposal in an attempt to cover-up the scandal and to ensure that many Labour politicians facilitated. This was also obviously another attempt to not only silence the victims, but also to ensure that the government could ensure that migrant communities are shielded from justified criticism.

"A complete whitewash" said one rape victim!

In Oldham, an ethnic rape hotspot, the local council requested the Home Office to hold a public inquiry into child sexual exploitation in the town. The Home Office refused, saying it was a local issue and the government would not get involved!

Labour MPs voted AGAINST holding a Nationwide Enquiry into grooming gangs

The ringleader of Britain's worst-ever child grooming gang was 'left scarred for life' after being stabbed in jail. Ahdel Ali needed 40 stitches after being attacked with a makeshift knife at Wakefield Prison in West Yorkshire.

The 31-year-old, who preyed on, abused and trafficked young girls, was left with a deep wound running from his neck to his shoulder.

A prison officer said "It was a really nasty wound. He lost a lot of blood." Ali is currently serving 18 years for his role in grooming 1,000 children as young as 13 in Telford.

"How Mussolini Crushed the Mafia"

In 1943, nearly half a million Allied troops invaded Sicily during 'Operation Husky'. In the following chaos and upheaval crime soared, many inmates escaped from their prisons, banditry returned and the black market thrived. As Fascist mayors were deposed the 'Allied Military Government of Occupied Territories' (AMGOT) simply appointed replacements, and many of these turned out to be former Mafia members, such as Calogero Vizzini and Giuseppe Genco Rosso. They presented themselves as anti-Fascists and this, together with their anti-Communist position, strengthened their bids for political office with the Allies. Mafia bosses reformed their 'clans' absorbing some of the marauding bandits into their ranks, and the island of Scilly was once again under the control of organised crime. This was the reality of the Allies much vaunted restoration of democracy because prior to this, when Benito Mussolini was Italian Prime Minister, things were very different.

Benito Mussolini

In the 1920's Mussolini, and the National Fascist Party, came close to eliminating the Mafia, and neutering their nefarious influence on Italian society and its politics for good. In 1924 Mussolini started a campaign to destroy the Sicilian Mafia led by Cesare Mori. Mori, who was in the Police service prior to the 1922 'March on Rome', had made his name in Sicily before the First World War, capturing the bandit Paolo Grisalfi, and was then transferred to Florence as Vice-Quaestor (1). After the War criminality in Sicily got worse with veterans joining gangs of bandits, so, in 1919, Mori was sent back as Head of Special Forces against Brigandage (2). Again he distinguished himself, this time for his energetic and radical methods. At Caltabellotta he arrested three hundred people in one night, which the press described as a "lethal blow to the Mafia", but, as Mori explained to a member of his staff: "These people haven't understood yet that brigands and the Mafia are two different things. We have hit the first, who are undoubtedly the most visible aspect of Sicilian criminality, but not the most dangerous one. The true lethal blow to the Mafia will be delivered when we are able to make roundups not only among Prickly Pears, but in prefecture, police headquarters, employers' mansions, and, why not, some ministries". Little did Mori know then, but 'The Iron Prefect' would get his chance to deliver a "true lethal blow" under Mussolini.

The Duce's War on the Mafia began in earnest after he visited Sicily in May 1924. Arriving in Piana del Greci near the capital Palermo, he was met by the Mayor, and Mafioso, Don Francesco Cuccia, who reportedly 'cooked a sardonic eyebrow' at Mussolini's security and announced; "You are with me; you are under my protection. What do you need all these cops for?". Understandably Mussolini then refused Cuccia's hospitality, so Cuccia, in return, instructed the townspeople to boycott the Duce's subsequent public address. Cuccia's 'misjudgement' of the Italian leader has gone down in history as one the Mafia really could have done without. He had drawn attention to their power within Sicily and their arrogance. Far from quietly allowing the Mafia to remain above the law, Mussolini resolved to crush them.

Cesare Mori had been recalled to active duty in June 1924 by Minister of the Interior, Luigi Federzoni, who appointed him Prefect of Trapani, Sicily and this, coupled with his previous experience on the Island made him the obvious candidate for the forthcoming anti-Mafia crackdown. Thus he was made Prefect of Palermo on 25th October 1925, with powers over the whole of Sicily and a remit to terminate the Mafia; "You have carte blanche", Mussolini told Mori, "The authority of the state must absolutely, I repeat absolutely, be re-established in Sicily". By 1929 Mori had achieved this

In order to destroy the Mafia, Mori felt it necessary to "forge a direct bond between the population and the state, to annul the system of intermediation under which citizens could not approach the authorities except through middlemen..., receiving as a favour that which is due them as their right".(3) Mori aimed to convince Sicilians that the Fascist Government was powerful enough to rival the Mafia and that the Mafia could no longer protect them, and powerful enough it proved to be. Mori formed a small army of policemen, carabinieri and militiamen, who went from town to town rounding up suspects.

By 1928 there had been over eleven thousand arrests, of which more than twelve hundred were convicted and imprisoned, with many others internally exiled. By the time Mori's campaign ended in June 1929, when Mussolini recalled him to Rome, Sicily's murder rate had sharply declined (4) and what had been known as the "social plague"(5) had been all but eradicated. Whilst Mori did not permanently crush the Mafia his campaign was so successful at suppressing it that the Mafia informant Antonino Calderone reminisced: "The music changed. Mafioso had a hard life...After the War the Mafia hardly existed anymore. The Sicilian Families had all been broken up".

Yes the campaign did indeed involved a level of 'rough justice', but the so-called "fear tactics" used by the Fascist Government against organised crime in the 1920's can probably best be compared, today, with Nayib Bukele and his 'Territorial Control Plan', an anti-gang programme in El Salvador. This has reduced the homicide rate in that Country from 103 people per 100,000 in 2015, to 2.4 per 100,000 in 2023. Giving El Salvador the lowest homicide rate in the American Continent after Canada. As with Mussolini's campaign in Sicily, some say (the usual suspects of course) that the approach by the El Salvadoran Government has eroded democracy (oh dear) - Strangely, it's not those living in the once crime-infested 'barrios', now sleeping peacefully in their beds at night who are saying it.

Sadly (though possibly somewhat amusingly) the temporary suppression of Mafia activity in Sicily from 1929 to 1943 contributed to its rise overseas, with many Mafiosi fleeing to the United States under the guise of choosing the freedom loving "good ole US of A" against "the oppression of Fascism". Chief amongst the Mafia expatriates were Carlo Gambino and Joseph Bonanno who went on to set up powerful crime syndicates in their adoptive homeland. (A word to Western Democracies - Will you ever learn from the past, and one day start checking out the backgrounds of new arrivals? Just a thought.)

So Mussolini and the National Fascist Party did what no previous or present Italian Government have ever achieved, taking the Mafia out of Political and Public life and into the gaols where they belong. And the man who did this is now portrayed as a buffoon, yes a buffoon. We could do with this sort of "buffoon" today to sort out crime in the towns and cities of our once great nation couldn't we?

Hail Duce, your name will live on forever!

Thus We Took Rome

£5.50

By Benito Mussolini. The largely symbolic march on Rome led to the establishment of fascist Italy. What was it and how did it happen? This booklet gives all the answers. Most interesting is the way in which Mussolini constituted his first government with fifteen Fascists, three Nationalists, Six Populari, three Liberals and three Social Democrats. This was done to harness the maximum number of citizens to the cause of national revival and harmony. pp.28 Size: A5

Pakistani Police Arrest a Suspect for UK Riots

PAKISTAN

Man Arrested for UK Incitement

Authorities in Pakistan have arrested a man on suspicion of cyber terrorism, in relation to disinformation thought to have fuelled unrest in Britain.

Farsan Asif (Centre)

Pakistani Police reported that Farhan Asif was linked to a website which gave a false name for the suspected Southport attacker and suggested incorrectly that he was an asylum seeker who arrived in the UK on a small boat.

The article, published on the website Channel3Now in the hours after the attack, was widely quoted in viral posts on social media.

Unrest broke out in England and Northern Ireland after the fatal stabbing attack, in which three young girls died. On raiding Mr Asif's property, the police recovered 2 laptops and a mobile phone used by Mr Asif. After analysing the devices, the police say that the account on X (formerly Twitter) for Channel3Now was found active. On Tuesday, police in Lahore said they had questioned Mr Asif about the article. Mr Asif said he had written it based on information copied from a UK-based social media account without verifying it, he told the police.

The police report states that Mr Asif told them that he runs the X account with the purpose of sharing national and international news, and that he picked up the alleged tweet from another twitter user.

Swiss Ban Burqa in Public

ZURICH

A Swiss prohibition on facial coverings in public spaces widely known as the "burqa ban" will take effect on Jan.1st 2025.

Narrowly passed in a 2021 referendum, the ban has been condemned by Muslim associations, some of whom are threatening to ignore the ban.

The nationalist, Swiss Peoples Party proposed the ban over fears that some extremists were using the burqa to hide their identities whilst committing terrorist offenses.

The governing Swiss Federal Council issued a statement saying it had fixed the start of the ban, and that anyone who unlawfully flouts it faces a fine of up to 1,000 Swiss francs ($1,144).

AfD Make Massive Gains in General Election

Germans faced an early New Year general election after the ruling Chancellor, Olaf Scholz was defeated on a confidence vote in the Bundestag. The election took place seven months earlier than planned after Mr Scholz's unpopular coalition collapsed in November, three years into a term that was increasingly marred by infighting. There was widespread discontent and not much enthusiasm for any of the candidates.

The conservative CDU won 208 of the 630 seats in Bundestag while the AfD won 152. The Social Democrats got 120 seats and the Left party 64.

The projections also estimated that around 850,00 CDU voters had defected to the AfD, pushing them to over 20 per cent of the total vote.

Crime Hits Record Levels

Data released by the German Interior Ministry on Tuesday showed that crimes in Europe's largest economy have reached their highest peak since 2016.

The data, which sparked widespread debate, shows that last year, 41 % of all crime suspects were foreigners, or persons without German citizenship. Foreigners in German represent only 15 per cent of the population. The Federal Criminal Police Office on Tuesday said it registered a 5.5 per cent year-on-year increase in crimes in Germany, to 5.94 million cases in 2023.

The data, presented by Federal Minister of the Interior Nancy Faeser, showed that the number of foreign suspects rose by 14.5%, with the number of German suspects increasing by 2.2%.

Richard Graupner of the Alternative for Germany (AfD) in Bavaria said, "What the AfD has warned about for years can no longer be hidden ... new crime statistics have triggered a debate on 'foreigner crime." He also called on the government to speed up deportations.

IN MEMORIAM

Jean-Marie Le Pen

1928-2025

It was with great regret that we learned of the recent death of French Comrade Jean-Marie Le Pen.

Born in a seaside village in Brittany, he studied law before joining the French Foreign Legion. He served in South-east Asia before completing his military career on the brutal battlefields of Algeria.

Forever a French patriot he formed the Front National in 1972. Growth was slow but within 10 years the FN was securing the 10 per cent needed to win seats in the European Parliament. He served in the EU parliament for over 30 years!

Le Pen also stood in the French presidential elections five times, narrowly being beaten into second place in 2002.

In 2011, he handed over the leadership of the FN to his daughter, Marine Le Pen and went into semi-retirement.

A spokesman said Jean-Marie had died peacefully in bed surrounded by his family.

YULETIDE and the WINTER SOLSTICE

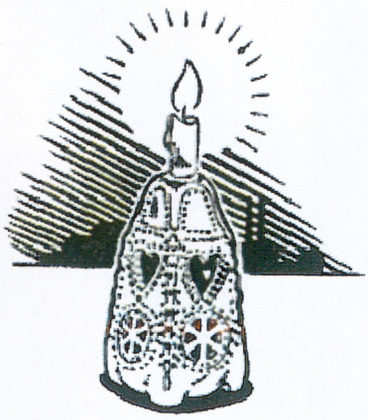
The traditional Festival of Yule and the Winter Solstice have largely vanished into the Christian festival of Christmas, itself now challenged by politically correct councils to vanish it into a non-religious "Winter Festival". But what is Yuletide and the Winter Solstice? Both of which were celebrated by our North European ancestors long before Christianity?

To our ancestors living in the forests and on the frozen plains of Northern Europe, the Winter Solstice was an important religious event. Also known as the festival of Yule it celebrated the end of the dark days of winter, and the coming of the new spring. For the Solstice marked the shortest day and longest night of the year. It is also the turning point of the year, as following the longest night, the sun begins to grow stronger in the sky and gradually the days become longer again. From a religious perspective it is a celebration of rebirth and hope for the future. Several ancient sites of "standing stones" are aligned to catch the birth of the new dawn.

The festival of Yule goes by different names throughout Nordic Europe, Jul in Scandinavia, and Jol in old Icelandic .The Prose Edda has references to the Yule festival as does the Ynglinga saga, which mentions a Yule feast lasting three nights. Although in some parts of Europe the festival went on for twelve nights. Feasting as part of the Yule festival seems common practice throughout, with records of toasts being drunk first to Odin for "victory" and then to the gods Njoror and Freyr "for good harvests and for peace".

Fire also played a vital part in the celebrations with the Yule log being burnt on a ceremonial fire and candles or specially prepared lanterns being lit.



Many Pagan dwellers of the great forests that covered much of Northern Europe worshipped "gods of nature" such as the Green Man. This figure was depicted as having two sides, one made of Holly, the Holly King, and the other of Oak, the Oak King. In winter, when nature is dormant and most trees have shed their leaves the Holly King, an evergreen, rules supreme. Following the Winter Solstice, as mother earth warms up, the Oak springs back to life and the Oak King rules again. Thus is the everlasting cycle of nature.

The "Green Man"

Even after Europe began to convert to Christianity the Festival of Yule was still celebrated. In AD 730, the "Father of English History" the Venerable Bede, recorded that the Pagan Yule festival was still being celebrated in parts of Britain, and in AD 840, King Haakon, the first Christian King of Norway, mentions Yule feasts continue to be held throughout his icebound Kingdom.

A Merry Yule to you and your kith and kin. Blessed Be!
